

Trustee Good Decision Making

Pension scheme trustees exercise discretions and make decisions that may seem straightforward. Reaching the wrong decision increases the risk of member complaints and claims.

The lawyers at Hogan Lovells can help you make decisions that withstand scrutiny and guide you through the legal minefield in this area.

The Pensions Ombudsman sees more complaints about discretions or decisions about death or ill health benefits than any other. We help pension scheme trustees put processes in place to ensure that issues are dealt with properly.

Contacts

Katie Banks,
London

Practices

Pensions
