

Isabel Costa Carvalho

Office Managing Partner

São Paulo

Biography

Isabel Costa Carvalho understands how business and markets work, and is recognized as a leading multidisciplinary lawyer in Brazil with broad experience across various practice areas, including international capital markets, corporate governance, compliance and investigations, and privacy.

Over the past 20 years, she has assisted Brazilian companies in international transactions, including listing their shares on the NYSE, guiding them in corporate governance structuring and setting up FCPA compliance programs, raising capital to fund business development, or assisting on complex cross-border M&A transactions and leading on due diligence matters.

Isabel advises and speaks extensively on anti-bribery laws, corporate governance and data privacy issues, areas in full development in Brazil. She has been at the forefront of the implementation of Brazil's new General Data Privacy Law, supporting some of the country's most prominent entities with data risk management concerns. She routinely assists clients in setting up compliance programs to fit their unique needs, industries, and risks, and guides them in solving problems when they arise, including leading cross-border investigations and dealing with relevant U.S. and Brazilian authorities.
